1. Aware of your continuing interest in Anatoliy A. MICHELSON and of your intention to contact him in the near future, we are transmitting under separate cover an internal PBCHORD memorandum of 31 October which outlines Subject's feelings with regard to TPLINGO who he apparently feels has sold him short. We have been advised from time to time by ☐ ☐ Security Officer of PBCHORD, that Subject's morale is quite low. We have also questioned Vivette about what specifically Subject had in mind when he said that the attitude of TPLINGO toward him was "humiliating." ☐ ☐ responded that his feelings apparently stemmed from the fact that Subject feels TPLINGO has not acknowledged the caliber of his qualifications. He feels, for example, that he should be as highly esteemed by TPLINGO as the former DS-776 who earns more than TPLINGO has offered Subject.

2. We note also from other bits of internal PBCHORD correspondence that BGCAILLUS is considering the underwriting of a new book which Subject has planned. The title of this proposed volume is "The Working Conditions Under Which Technical Progress Proceeds in the USSR." BGCAILLUS feels that a study along this line would be of great value but their budget at the present time could not provide for sponsoring this venture. Despite this limitation BGCAILLUS has not rejected the plan completely but hopes rather to tap some source of funds for this purpose.

Approved. ☐ ☐

Assistant Director, Radio Programming Division

Manager, Audience Research and Evaluation Department

Future Employment of Former Soviet Engineer

1. Following your suggestion, I got in touch with A.A.M. I told him that I would very much like him to resume his program evaluations, and that I needed his contributions. He replied that, until the differences with the station could be eliminated, it would be against his good conscience to do any work for me. When I suggested that he come here for a meeting with you and myself, he reacted as follows:

"I will not go to the radio station. I should be very happy to meet you any place else. As long as I feel that the attitude towards me is humiliating, I prefer to die of starvation rather than give in. If you can convince me that the people at the radio station will talk to me in a human way, it is different. My impression is that the American Committee is providing shelter for a score of good-for-nothings and lazy-bones."

2. It is still my feeling that A.A.M. really would like to make a contribution to the station. He wants, however, an assurance that, apart from financial compensation, he will also get proper recognition for his work. He indicated that he could not consider any offer from us until he was sure that real interest would be taken in any future scripts of his, and that constructive criticism would be made in the case of faults in his work.
